Review of Minutes—June minutes were reviewed.

Watershed Committee Update—Mr. Kromrey said the Watershed Summer Gala is July 15 and the WCO received a Missouri Bird Conservation Initiative grant.

“Bass Pro Shops Sustainability Program; A Model in Shared Values,”— Dan Hoy, Director of Facilities, Bass Pro Shops — Mr. Hoy said he began working for Bass Pro Shops in 1982 as a janitor and groundskeeper while working on his Industrial Management degree. Today there are 13 million square feet of facilities, with an additional 9.4 million square feet with the acquisition of Cabela’s. He said promoting resource conservation and sustainability is at the core of the Bass Pro Shops mission. He said John Morris and his family have promoted a conservation ethic not to squander resources and to reduce, reuse and recycle. Bass Pro Shops facilities management program is built on a sustainable platform. He said the success of the program is rooted in shared values. Employees are on board with conservation efforts in house and encouraged to get involved in their communities. From accounting, to stewardship of animals, to taxidermy and acquisitions, central services, to sustainability and energy management, to a measured solid waste program, Bass Pros Shops is committed to conservation and sustainability throughout the organization. Mr. Hoy said John Morris created this conservation ethic and his values are shared and exercised through the company.
